Flock Directi Intelligent People. Uncommon Ideas. ringo

Bhavin Turakhia

Bhavin is the Co-founder and CEO of the Directi group which comprises Ringo, Flock, Zeta, Radix, Media.net and Codechef. These businesses employ 1500+ people across 9 global offices, with over 9 million customers, revenues over $250 million and a net worth of over $500 million.

Bhavin is a respected personality in the Internet and Technology community, and a frequent speaker at various seminars, tech conferences and business college events. With over 17 years of technology experience and over 12 years of market knowledge, he brings in a very deep understanding of the entire industry, a strong technical background, a keen business sense, and most importantly, a clear vision of the future of the industry.

In 1998, Bhavin founded Directi - a technology centric company, with a focus on developing volume based Web Products and Services for a global audience. Today The Directi Group is an industry leading Web Services Provider, serving a growing audience of customers in over 230 countries. The group also boasts of five business units under its umbrella - all of which are industry leaders in different aspects of the Web Services business.

Bhavin is also the creator of WebHosting.Info, an innovative statistics portal about the Web Hosting industry. He has written several noteworthy papers on e-commerce trends, and has spoken at various seminars across the globe on s topics ranging from advertising on the Internet, to Infrastructure and e-commerce related issues. He has also served as a technical advisor to the Indian Cyber Crime Investigation Cell, and has won several awards, including the Bharti Entrepreneur of the year award in 2005. The Directi Group was also ranked 10th in the Deloitte Technology Fast 50 India program 2005.

Bhavin has also chaired the Global ICANN Accredited Registrars Constituency – the global Internet compliance and policy formation authority.

Bhavin’s strong business skills, combined with a deep understanding of technology, are what keep Directi a market leader in all its service offerings. His knowledge and understanding of market trends guides Directi's vision and direction. He is also the architect behind the various products and services that Directi is building, both in terms of technology and business logic.